change the mood at your workstation with a little POP

Power, Charging, and a POP of color Just Where You Need Them.

Color affects our daily lives far more than we realize. In the office, skillful use of colors can boost your productivity, health, and even happiness. Studies have shown that tapping into color psychology can also improve employees’ productivity and job satisfaction, and positively impacts how your clients, visitors, and customers perceive your business. The Symphony POPs combine vibrant colors with accessible power and charging to any workspace.
